structive programme that will elimistructive programme that will eliminate uncertainty about the law and stimulate the growth of legitimate business—these things are the fundamentals of the president's plan of action, to be embedied in the message which he will read at a joint session of congress next week. He presented the document to the cabinet today. Members of the cabinet today of the sincere intentions of the adof the sincere intentions of the ad-ministration to deal fairly with it.

To Outline Message.

Tomorrow the president will outline the message to the Democratic mem-bers of the senate committee on interstate commerce and the house ju-diciary committee at the White house conference. While the president has not revealed his views on detailed legislation, he hopes that his message will be the guiding influence that will keep the scope of activity within a well defined compass, eliminating so far as possible any congestion of radical bills

One of the most important features of the anti-trust programme is the interstate trade commission. This organization differs from the kind of commission advocated by the National Progressive party during the last campaign, in that it would not be vested with powers of regulation, but would be the medium through which the government would keep the business world informed and eliminate "the twilight zone" in big industry. fustry.
There have been repeated requests for information from business concerns, and the need of an authoritative reservoir of information already has been demonstrated in the present administration's experience with the trust question.

To Include Business Men.

It is contemplated to place the com-missioner of corporations at the head of the interstate trade commission, but to include in its membership business men who would know business methods suffi-ciently to conduct the necessary in-quiries and furnish the desired informa-tion.

With the president's discussion of the whole subject at today's cablact meeting, the talk of "slowing up" on the administration's programme and postponing trust legislation until the December session of congress apparently disappeared in executive quarters.

OGDEN, Jan. 13—One hundred and thirty-nine fire alarms were responded to by the fire departments of the city during the year 1913, and the firement worked a total of 132 hours and 25 minutes on the fires, according to the annual yeport of Fire Chief A. B. Canfield, which was submitted to the city commissioners today. In the year's service the departments traveled 777 miles, raised 772 ladders and laid 35,000 feet of large hose and 7900 feet of chemical hose.

As to the manner in which fires occurred, Chief Canfield reports that 30 were from unknown causes, 12 from playing with matches and the remainder from a variety of more than 20 causes. The locations of the fires were as follows: Brick buildings, 35; frame, 61; brick and buildings, 35; concrete, 5; fires other than in buildings, 35.

In thousands of instances blood troubles have been the result of com-ing in contact with disease germs in public places. And the apparently in-significant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, ofen infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is somewhat revolu-tionary in its composition, since it has accomplished all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely veg-etable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active pur-pose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essen-tial nutriment. There are more-cases of articular rhoumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of.
